Before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.

What is Repentance?

“The word ‘repent’ used by John the Baptist, Jesus, and Peter is the Greek word metanoeo. It is a compound of the words meta and nous. The word meta means to turn, and the word nous refers to the mind. When these two words are compounded, the new word describes in its most basic sense a change of mind or a complete conversion. The word metanoe reflects a turn.”

What is Repentance?

“This particular word for ‘repent’ is the Greek word metamelomai, which portays a person who is completely overwhelmed with emotions. This word is used five times in the New Testament, and in each instance, it expressses sorrow, mourning, or grief. The word metamelomai rarely gives the picture of someone moved to change, but rather depicts a person who is seized with remorse, guilt, or regret.”

What is Repentance?

“A change in direction, a new course, and a completely altered behavior and view of life.

In the New Testament, this Greek word is used to denote a complete, radical, total change. It means a decision to completely change one's thoughts, behavior, and actions or to entirely turn around in the way one is thinking, believing, or living. Thus, the word “repent” in the New Testament gives the image of a person changing from top to bottom - a total transformation wholly affecting every part of a person's life.”
